Throughout time, humankind has sought to provide explanation and justification for the pains, joys, and passions of life. With DIMENSIONS, Navona presents a collection of string orchestra works from seven composers (Gregory Hutter, Louis Babin, Reynard Burns, Andrew March, Claude Debussy, Rudy Kronfuss, Daniel Burwasser), whose music captures the fluidity of time and emotion and illustrates the impact of past experiences on the present and future. Influenced by grief, the fate of the innocent, and finding oneself thrown into a perpetual state of change, the subject matter of these pieces proves to be as multilayered as the music itself.

Track 4 of the album is an elegy for strings entitled Sanguis Venenatus (Tainted Blood) composed by Andrew March in memory of all haemophiliacs, and others, who have lost their lives as a result of contaminated blood and blood products. The elegy is also dedicated to the late Lord Morris of Manchester, a dedicated champion of people with haemophilia, and pioneer of far-reaching protective legislation for the sick and disabled.

The CD is available from Amazon, Arkiv Music, Barnes & Noble, FYE, Best Buy, Newbury Comics and CD Universe. Sanguis Venenatus is available for download from iTunes, Amazon MP3, ClassicsOnline, eMusic, Napster, eClassical and Google Play with streaming available from Naxos Music Library, Spotify, Rdio, Grooveshark, LastFM and Rhapsody.
